Bounty of Folk Art

The New York Folklore Society invites you to be part of our 2014 CSA*
Bounty of Folk Art season, supporting artists from several communities in New York State.

Similar to the philosophy behind Community Supported Agriculture (CSA), the New York Folklore Society's CSA* (Community Supported Art) Bounty of Folk Art supports the making of folk and traditional arts in several of New York's diverse communities.

For just $250.00 per "share," each shareholder will receive a piece of art every month for six months, beginning in January 2014. A total share will equal the receipt of six items, each from a different region or county of New York State. Each unique piece of art will come with a description of the artistic tradition it represents and a short biography of the artist. As a bonus, each shareholder will also receive a CD of the New York Folklore Society's radio documentary project, which presents ten sound portraits of New York traditional arts, guest produced by several of New York's audio producers.

You will be amazed with the quality of traditional art being produced in New York State, including both utilitarian and decorative items. All items reflect the traditions and aesthetics of regional or ethnic communities.

This package makes a great gift for a year of giving!

Items in the CSA Bounty of Folk Art include:

 subject to availability

- A glass bead and wire animal by Zimbabwean artist, Bernard Domingo of Yonkers
- A "babbi" or "God's eye" by Somali Bantu artists in Utica
